Executive Director

Original Ones (2019–Present)

As the executive director of this Oregon nonprofit I spearheaded the creation and growth of a next generation digital platform for preserving and promoting the metaphysical teachings of the lead minister of a specialized spiritual community. Since its inception my role has been vital in keeping this global community united and thriving, especially after her retirement.

Creative Lead

Spiritual Journeys, LLC. (2008–2019)

As a (Multidisciplinary) Creative Lead, I managed a wide range of projects, encompassing audio and video production, sound engineering, marketing, front-end development, graphic design, and content management. With a high degree of autonomy and agency, I upheld and steered brand integrity across various online platforms. My combination of technical expertise and creative vision enabled me to drive innovative and impactful strategies for the company.

Curator

American Book Center (2001–2007)

I served as a book buyer and seller at the American Book Center in Amsterdam, where I curated and managed a massive array of books within the realms of spirituality, magic & the occult, alternative history and health. This role demanded more than standard sales skills; it required deep comprehension of complex subjects and the ability to guide customers through their journey of self-discovery and knowledge acquisition. In managing this marketplace, I developed intellectual engagement and empathy, cultivating a specialized environment that catered to the interests and needs of the customers in the brave new, post-9/11 world.
